

In the United States, though, as we will now see, the units of stuff are set by the U.S. Customary System of Units (See <http://www.ndt-ed.org/GeneralResources/Units/USCustomarySystem.htm>) which has neither one of the two features we need.